Scent of a woman tango quote

Trask: I will recommend to the disciplinary committee... that you be expelled, Mr. Simms. You're a cover-up artist and you're a liar. Slade: But not an informant! Trask: Excuse me?Col. Trask: Mr. Slade... Colonel Slade: This is such a snzel! Trask: Please look at your tongue, Mr. Slade. You're at Baird school, not barracks. Mr. Simms, I'm going to give you one last chance to talk at the hill. Slade: Mr. Simms doesn't want that. He doesn't need to be labeled as yet worthy of being a Baird Man. What the hell is that? What's your motto here? Guys, inform your classmates, save your skin. Other than that, we're going to burn you at the stake.? All right, gentlemen! When shit hits the fan, some guys run away and some guys stay. Here's Charlie, in front of the fire, and there's George, hiding in Dad Pollitt's pocket. And what are you doing? He's going to reward George and destroy Charlie.Trask: Are you done, Mr. Slade?Col. I don't know who went to this place, William Howard Taft, William Jennings Bryan, William Tell, anyone. Their spirit is dead; if they ever had one, it's no longer there. You're building a rat ship here, a ship for informants at sea. And if you think you're going to make these little fish for manhood, you'd better think again. Because I say that you are killing the very spirit that this institution proclaims that it instills! What a farce! What kind of show are you doing here today? I mean, the only class in this act is standing next to me. And I'm here to tell you that this boy's soul is intact. It's non-negotiable. Do you know how I know? Someone here -- and I won't say who -- offered to buy it. Only Charlie didn't sell here. Mr. Trask: Sir, you're off duty! [Bang the hammer] Colonel Slade: Off duty? I'm going to show you off duty! You don't know what's off duty, Mr. Trask. I'd show you, but I'm too old, I'm too tired, I'm too blind. If I were the man I was five years ago, I'd get a FLAMETHROWER in this place! out of service?! Who the hell are you going to talk to? I've been around, you know? There was a time I could see! And I've seen guys like these, younger than these, their arms ripped off, their legs ripped off! But there's nothing like the sight of an amputee spirit. There's... no prosthetics for it. You think you're sending this gorgeous soldier home to Oregon with his tail between his legs, but I say you're executing his soul! And why? Because he's not a Baird man. Baird men. If you hurt this guy, you're going to be Baird Bums, many of you. And Harry, Jimmy, Trent, wherever you are out there, fuck you too!Mr. Trask: [Repeatedly bang the hammer] Withdraw, Mr. Slade!Col. When I came here, I heard those words, cradle of leadership. Well, when the bow breaks, the cradle will fall. And he fell here, he fell! Creators of men, creators of leaders: be careful what kind of leader you are Here. I don't know if Charlie's silence here today is right or wrong; I'm not a judge or a jury. But I can tell you this: he will not sell anyone to buy his future! And this, my friends, is called integrity. It's called courage. This is the stuff that leaders should be made of. [pause] Now I've come to the crossroads of my life. I have always known which way was right; without exception, I knew it. But I never took it. You know why? It was too much... Damn it... Difficult. Now here's Charlie, he's at the intersection. He chose a path. It's the right way. It is a path made of principle, which leads to character. May he continue his journey. Keep this boy's future in your hands, Committee! It's a precious future. Believe me! Don't destroy it! Protect him. Embrace him. One day it will make you proud, I promise. Quotes labeled as woman's perfume Showing 1-20 of 20 If you tangled up everything, just tango. - Al Pacino in of Woman Perfume is such a powerful instrument of attraction, that if a woman has this perfectly tuned, needs nothing else. I will forgive her a large nose, a split lip, even crossed-eyes; and I'll bathe in the carousel of its intoxicating smell. — Roman Payne I had loved women who were old and who were young; those extra pounds and big rumps, and others so thin there was barely even the skin to pinch, and every time I held them, I was afraid to snap them in two. But for all of these: where they deserved my love was in their delicious smell. Perfume is such a powerful tool of attraction, that if a woman has this tool perfectly tuned, she does not need anything else. I will forgive her a large nose, a split lip, even crossed-eyes; and I'll bathe in the carousel of its intoxicating smell. Roman Payne Came up, and was attracted to the way his skin shone in the light. He took a deep breath, telling himself that he had to be calming and not because he was desperate to capture his delicate scent, like the violets that grew in the Surrey summer. - Sarah MacLean, A Rogue by Any Other Name Her skin reeked of floss and the soothing scent of lemon grass. The hem of the skirt grazed her ankles and revealed her silver anklet. — Sudha Nair, Priyamvada & Co. Breathing her clean and sweet scent was like unexpectedly finding almond cookies. So fucking sweet. — Cherise Sinclair Ńtelege tot. Eu Ńl insult Ńi el mǎ urǎŃte. Sau invers rŃdea el. — Giovanni Arpino, The darkness and honey The pleasure of keeping it washed through him in repeated washes. She was petite and de-potted, the delicious fragrance of roses rising to her nostrils. He noticed when he had kept it before... not a cloying scent, but a slight floral essence swept with the clear freshness of the winter air. - Lisa Kleypas, Cold-hearted Rake She stretched as she began kissing along the side of her neck. Her skin was warm for effort, a little salty, and her scent was divinely exciting: horses, fresh winter air, roses. - Lisa Kleypas, Cold-hearted Rake Physically, Manya was both attractive and aristocratic in her bearing. It wasn't her abundant white hair that attracted men, her flawless white skin, her floating breasts, but the innate femininity emanating from her. Even when she was wearing her kitchen clothes, a mammoth Hoover apron that slipped over her head and tied around a wide dress or her cardigan sweater, an opaque brown thing appropriate for shopping, oozed sympathetic femininity. Many have not thought much about his appearance. Most of the time he washed his face and body with brown kosher soap that did not contain fat from forbidden animals, and wrapped his hair in a random bun held together with several large turquoise hairpins imitations. His kitchen shoes were sprayed with chicken fat and goose, bits and duck, salmon eggs, even the brains of calves. Because she had been raised on the Black Sea, she loved caviar, so every now and then a shimmering pearl fell on her well-fed shoes. The smell of food on her body made her not Seductive. - Eleanor Widmer, Up from Orchard Street Looking across the square at the chocolate shop, its bright window, the boxes of pink and red and orange geraniums on the balconies and on both sides of the door, I feel the insidious creeping of doubt in my mind, and my mouth fills to the memory of its scent, like cream and marshmallows and burnt sugar and the intoxicating mixing cognac and freshly ground cocoa beans. It is the scent of a woman's hair, right where the nape of the neck is combined with the tender cavity of the skull, the scent of apricots ripe in the sun, hot brioche and cinnamon buns, lemon tea and lily of the valley. Joanne Harris, Chocolat What's the matter with you? with me? Yes. The car feels heavy. You know why? You have the weight of the world on your shoulders. - At Pacino (Woman's Perfume) Rothbury inhaled the familiar lemon-tinged air that spreads in front of him. He remained silent, ignoring the zing of consciousness through him, and instead listened to the sound of footsteps. Whoever entered the room, she was definitely a young woman. One of his highly regarded Arabs would have bet us, but it wasn't Cordelia. It smelled perennially of pungent roses, to which it had been partial at the beginning of their short romance, but which now simply reminded him that the woman connected to it was just as clinging and thorny as the flower itself. But this perfume- he inhaled deeply as he now surrounded him - inspired by satisfaction, which was a miracle in itself, considering that all he wanted to do at the time was break free, find Lady Gilton and limit her elegant neck. Who's here? Rothbury asked, his tone firm but quiet. He pulled the nearest silk ligaments by holding his wrists together behind him, noting that they were finally starting to tear. Come now, he said in a tone he used on ski horses. Tell me who's here. - Olivia Parker, To Wed to Wicked Earl In less than an hour, Sophia had efficiently arranged and copied the notes into a neat hand that would delight the endless printer. She was so quiet and cheap in her movements that Ross would forget to be there, except that her scent filtered through the air. It was an enticing distraction that he could not repel. Breathing deeply, he tried to identify the fragrance. She detected tea and vanilla, mixed with hot female skin elixir. Stealing glances at his delicate profile, he was fascinated by the way the light moved on his hair. He had small ears, a well-defined chin, a soft fragment of nose and eyelashes that cast pointed shadows on his cheeks. Lisa Kleypas, Lady Sophia's lover Last night, I was looking with madness and passion. I couldn't get over the scent of a woman! And this desire overwhelmed all my other instincts and made me - Avijeet Das catches me off guard when he throws his arms around my neck and hugs me. I moan softly when I record the smell of his skin. Liz had been a great believing believer pheromones and even though her perfume hadn't done much for me, I have a feeling she wasn't even so attracted to mine. I don't know if I buy this kind of thing, but whatever the cause, capturing a breath of Annika has always had a strong effect on me. I can't explain how it stinks because it's indescribable. On the rare occasion when she didn't spend the night in my bed in my university department, I would change pillows and put my head on her. The strange thing is that Annika couldn't stand the scent and only used inexcet soap, so everything I detected had to come straight to her. This is obviously not our first date, and following a kind of protocol seems arbitrary and youthful. I mean, we saw each other naked. I know the sounds it makes when it's on. There aren't many places on his body that my fingers and mouth didn't explain. I hug her behind and even though it's hard to let her go at the end, I do. - Tracey Garvis Graves, The Girl He Used to Know Half the muffin popped out of the toaster on the counter behind him, and she stood up to get them, the scent of her mixing with the hot yeasty smell of muffins and buttery, peppery smell of eggs, and the fatty, spicy smell of sausage, and Shane lost track of where he was in conversation. Jennifer Crusie, Agnes and the Hitman We danced every night, while I was blinded by the scent of you, I'm Frankie Slade, shoot me in the head, you held me back. - Soroosh Shahrivar, Letter 19 A strong smell of sour wine. , candles and over ripe fruit hanging in the air. And something else, which he bought in mind a mixture of lilac and gooseberry scents. - Andrzej Sapkowski, The Last Wish Wish
